With the HyDrive 810, the flagship of the line, Hartke has worked “industrial strength” into every facet of this remarkable cabinet. Power for days, a double set steel grill, inset side handles, a diamond steel kickplate and underneath, a pair of roadworthy, steel casters. The HyDrive 810 was designed for demanding players who need critical performance at intense volume levels.

Perfectly suited for all styles of bass playing, the HyDrive 10 was specifically designed with the mid-range frequencies that rock players rely on night after night. And the HyDrive 810 is a sealed, quad-chambered cabinet, made with the highest quality plywood, extensive bracing and dado joinery. This allows the cabinet to be rigid, yet lightweight (weighing only 135 pounds) for superior projection of sound and true sonic clarity.

The HyDrive 810 features eight 10” neodymium hybrid cone drivers, producing up to 2,000 watts of hammering bass power. That’s more than double the power capacity of any other 810 bass cabinet. To get that much power from traditional paper cone speakers, you would end up with an enclosure housing 20 speakers and weighing nearly 400 pounds. With all its lightweight power and tonal versatility, Hartke’s HyDrive 810 is more robust and efficient than anything else available in its class.
